Sweet Dreams tours can fit anywhere!

Our team only need 90 minutes to build the stage, and then the scene is set for a unique eclectic mix of puppets and humans combined with full theatrical lighting and effects to make a truly spectacular performance. So why not treat it as a real event? Schools can book a show for their pupils, then have another in the evening for a paying audience. A theatre can have 3 shows a day- 2 short daytime ones for schools and a full length public one in the evening. Sweet Dreams are so confident in the quality of the products we offer, that we even have special pricing and ticket arrangements for public performances, and a full supporting package of workshops and talk-back sessions so the general public can also have the opportunity to explore the exciting and engaging themes and conventions of Shakespeare's works, of puppetry or of theatrical performance.

Caliban is twisted and bitter, Prospero is old and magical, Miranda is young and in love with Ferdinand. And Ferdinand is.. A Puppet!

Despite receiving little attention at the time it was written, a surge in interest during the mid 19th century brought The Tempest into recognition as one of Shakespeare's greatest achievements.

And now Sweet Dreams take audiences on a journey through the storms to Prospero's mystical island to be lost in a captivating world of princes, magicians and magical creatures.

A multi-media explosion of classical dramaturgy and modern theatricality, The Tempest runs at just under 2 hours, (75 mins schools-cut) and has a host of optional workshops and talk-backs too!

"Duke Orsino loves Olivia, but Olivia loves Cesario. Cesario is really a girl called Viola and she is actually in love with Orsino. Sir Toby is drunk, Sir Andrew might be drunk, Malvolio is NOT drunk, and Sebastian is NOT dead. So, as they say: If music be the food of love, then please play on!"

Over 400 years after it was written, SweetDreams brings one of Shakespeare's favourite comedies to life with a mixture of live actors, puppets and special effects. And, unlike most other touring productions, it comes with a complete stage-set and lighting, so even modest venues such as a school hall can feel like a professional theatre.

Running at just over 2 hrs with an interval, or a reduced version if needed of 75-85 minutes, and a setting time of only 90 minutes, this is the perfect tour for schools. We can even arrange workshops and talk-back sessions!

Not only is it theatre, but it's educational too! Contact us now to see when we can come to you!
